

layout plan./

the modular design allows for different configurations and experiences the design can be adapted to either a rectangle or polygon shaped sites rectangle

polygon

jardins de métis

reford gardens

Urban sprawl / l'étalement urbain

Concept and experience offered to visitors

The garden is for all peoples and for all ages. The labyrinth will draw in visitors to explore and re-discover n the wonders of nature in a world that is increasingly urban and less connected with nature and where food comes from. Currently, more than half of the world's population now lives in cities. The modular spaces allows for disparate exhibits, while still blending under the same theme. For example, the green and "edible" walls contain herbs, sweet potato vines and kale that crawl upward using minimal space to grow food. The garden's structure is made up of water barriers, often used in an urban setting- the exhibit portrays how materials can be reused in different contexts. The garden offers a respite from city life as nature crawls in the urban materials that are in use. It offers unique spots to relax and enjoy the summer, play, learn and spark the imagination and creativity to live more sustainable.

elevations./

YOU ARE HERE

modules can be combined to create clusters of new ideas and concepts

wind spinners

- ★ Calathea 'Burle Marx'
- ★ Rattlesnake plant
- ★ Barsaloux's Begonia
- ★ Mini splitleaf philodendron
- ★ Crispy Wave Birdnest Fern
- ★ Red Maranta
- ★ Artillery fern
- ★ China doll
- ★ African mask
- ★ Grey Star
- ★ Rikki

- ★ nestable plastic pallets
- ★ automatic irrigation from LCD water barrier
- ★ Sweet Potato Vines
- ★ Mint
- ★ Thyme
- ★ Lavender
- ★ Basil
- ★ Oregano
- ★ Parsley
- ★ Kale

TREE GATE

LIVING SCREEN

GREEN WALL

PLANTER BENCH

Urban sprawl / l'étalement urbain

jardins de métis

reford gardens

main views./

YOU ARE HERE

the garden draws in everyone to explore, play, learn and reconnect with nature

LCD water barriers

Urban sprawl / l'étalement urbain

jardins de métis
reford gardens

perspective./

YOU ARE HERE

the threshold between the urban and the natural converge offering a new perspective

jardins de métis

reford gardens

In what way, in your view, will your project contribute to the renewal of the art of the garden?

The garden is for all peoples and for all ages. The labyrinth will draw in visitors to explore and re-discover the wonders of nature in a world that is increasingly urban. It offers unique spots to relax and enjoy the summer, play, learn and spark the imagination and creativity to live more sustainable.