The Project

Design landscape is an art, the garden is your blank canvas and your brushes are the plants. A process where your imagination is unstoppable.

In this garden we want to give the visitors the opportunity to be artists, to explore the vast possibilities that nature give us to be creative. It works as a puzzle where you can put pieces anywhere you want to make your own design. Everyone will be able to choose any plant and put them wherever they believe look well. The containers have three different colors if you put them together you will find the original mix of plants that we proposed.

Visitors will also find a slope, as a hall, getting there by using a slide. Once you are down there you will appreciate your designs from another point of view, as a reminder of the importance of see, not only the garden but life with a different point of view. To go upstairs, visitors have to cross a beautiful water curtain, as a fun game, who doesn't love to get wet?
